SIX STAR SOLUTIONS

You deserve the Six Star treatment

“Whether you live in the country, city or on the coastline, rust is inevitable. Although manufacturers are making more improvements, rust is still prevalent. Corrosion can occur in hidden places especially when paint is dented or chipped. Electronic Rust Protection is the solution.”

Six Star Electronic Rust Unit

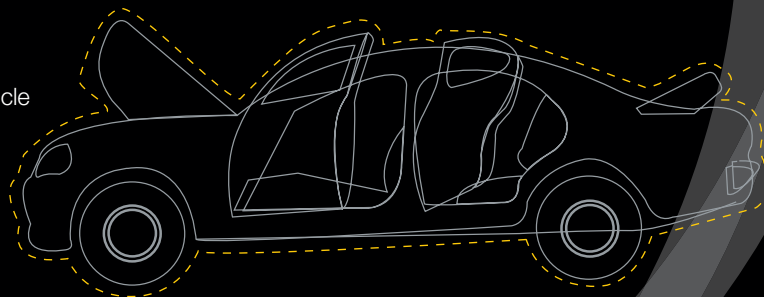

Rust is an electrochemical reaction on metal that occurs when air, moisture and dust combine. All vehicles are exposed to these types of elements, even when garaged. Your vehicle is made from steel which is comprised of iron particles, metal impurities and free electrons. Under normal conditions, the metals of your vehicle are stable, however when the introduction of environmental factors such as water and oxygen occur on the vehicle, it causes a chemical reaction that results in rust. Electronic Rust Protection is a proven product which is fundamentally used by industries all over the world. Electronic Rust Protection has become so advanced it is now considered a necessity on Government equipment, Defence Force Machinery along with shipping, mining, marine, farming, and automotive industries.

Six Stars Electronic Rust unit protects your car by forming an invisible field of electronic currents which disrupts the flow of electrons on the vehicles metal.
